Technological advancements have changed the way of life for almost every individual, business, and industry in the 21st Century. The behavioral health field has already adopted electronic medical records and electronic billing. There are technology-based treatment and recovery supports that can assist providers in expanding their interventions. This 6-hour workshop introduces participants to the emerging use of telemental health counseling and covers the essential competencies. We will discuss the benefits and drawbacks of telemental health counseling, how to screen for fit, HIPAA, ethics and consent, how to choose which technology to use, and give participants the opportunity to perform/observe a counseling session via video conferencing.

Agenda:

8:00 - 8:30am:	Registration, Networking, & Welcome
9:00 - 10:00am:	Why Distance Counseling - Benefits and Drawbacks - Research
