in-home care for better living

If you are not a professional with a private practice or in mental health (or perhaps you are in private practice or mental health and just want a “refresher”)– you may often find yourself in need of a DSM-5 “Tune-Up” – where we go “back to the basics” and review some of the major content areas and psychiatric disorders. This may be even more applicable if you are in the healthcare arena – where you are often faced with patients that may have mental health disorders that can exacerbate coping with their physical problems as well. This workshop is meant for you! We will be focusing on some of the major content areas of the DSM-5 - going over disorders, criteria and breaking this down. In addition, we will be reviewing some ethical frameworks (social worker, case manager, nursing and counselors) as we begin our day of learning and as we go through some of the various disorders – we will have some interactive discussions around ethics, case scenarios and videos. Finally, every participant will receive (as part of the cost of this CE) – a “DSM-5 Desk Reference” – which although is not meant to be an exhaustive replacement of the DSM-5 – can serve as a supplemental resource for you. This training will enhance your knowledge of the disorders, criteria and chapters of the DSM-5 while providing ethical discussions at the same time.
