Debunking Myths for Healthcare Providers

As clinicians and healthcare providers, we often find ourselves helping patients and families cope with vulnerable and emotional life events. As patients navigate the continuum of care, we aim to provide our professional services in a setting that meets the patient's health care needs, as well as their end-of-life wishes. It is imperative that providers and clinicians have a clear understanding of the various health care settings and services/programs that are available to our patients. Palliative care is too often an overlooked and underutilized service - frequently confused as a fancy name for hospice or with many myths surrounding it. Join expert presenters from Bridgeway Hospice as they provide a deep dive into palliative care -- the benefits, the differences from other healthcare services, and the role palliative care can play in the fast-growing and ever-changing healthcare sector. Participants will gain valuable insight into the ways palliative care can be utilized within the care continuum, and ultimately provide patients and families with another evidence-based option for quality care services.
