According to Wikipedia, Ethical Leadership is “leadership that is directed by respect for ethical beliefs and values and for the dignity and rights of others”. This definition embodies the ethical codes of social workers, counselors, nurses and case managers. In this dynamic training – we will explore the traits of emerging leaders in our different professions and examine the ethics that correspond with values of strong leadership. We’ll begin our training with roundtable discussions of ethical standards around leadership. From there, Dr. Pamela Roshell, MSW will lead a discussion around her leadership at the Department of Youth and Aging Services. Following this, we will have Jason Lesandrini, Medical Ethicist at a Major Healthcare System in GA, talk about ethics in the medical and healthcare arena. . We will close our day of learning with Dr. Adrienne White who will talk about Self-Empowerment, Leadership and Ethics – even weaving self-care into this as well. Finally, we will adjourn our day with roundtable discussions around new ethical perspectives we may have gained from our training.
