"This was one of the best classes I've taken. Thank you for making it engaging, educational, inspiring, and worth the time spent."

"Thank you for the Tools/website access, to reinforce and boost my preparation skills for the LMSW Exam!!"

"This training exceeded my expectations. The level of professionalism and availability of the staff for questions and assistance were nothing short of 1st class"

- Attendees from earlier 2021 courses

CEU Creations! I participated in their two day prep course last month, which was combined with The One Test Prep with Jason Adkins. I learned my learning style, learned how to break down the questions and had fun while participating. The prep course included fun ways to learn recall questions, access to The One Test Prep Course modules and twice weekly study groups. It is well worth the investment and you will be glad you did. And, in case you are wondering. Yes, I'm a LCSW!

-Tristesse Casimier, LCSW

I actually attended a two day workshop hosted by The One Test Prep and Anne Bistriz McSweeney's CEU Creations. The workshop included access to the program and 8 group study sessions. This program was the turning point for my success to pass the exam. The study group was encouraging, informative, and very effective. I was extremely anxious about my upcoming test and the group pushed me by providing invaluable tips and support. This program is truly amazing and I would recommend it to any and every clinician preparing for Licensure.

Jason Adkins, LCSW - Owner/Founder The One Test Prep

Jason Adkins is an LCSW and runs day to day operations of The One Test Prep. He grew up in Chicago but earned his BA in Psychology from Clark Atlanta University in 1998. He then spent some time traveling throughout Europe pursuing his other passion of playing professional basketball. Jason returned to earn his MSW from the Whitney M. Young School of Social Work at Clark Atlanta University in 2005, completed his licensure in 2006 and again in 2012. Jason is a member of the NASW. He lives in Milton, Georgia. As the director of The One Test Prep, Jason leads a team of fully licensed social workers from all over the country that deliver their one on one tutoring and study groups to thousands of social workers each year.

Anne McSweeney, LCSW - Owner/Founder CEU Creations

Anne McSweeney is a Licensed Clinical Social Worker with a unique and diverse background in medical social work, education and community relations. Anne is the owner and Educational Director of CEU Creations. For over 10 years, CEU Creations has been providing cutting-edge, educational trainings to clinicians throughout the United States through live and online CE trainings. One of the main missions of CEU Creations is to remove boredom from CE trainings and use innovative learning techniques to engage learners. Many of CEU Creations' trainings have been also been featured at professional conferences – on a state and national level. Anne has been a Licensed Social Worker in GA since 1994. Prior to finding her niche providing educational trainings, Anne practiced medical social work for over 8 years – working primarily with the geriatric population in home health, hospice and dialysis. In 2015, Anne was appointed to the Fulton County Commission on Elderly Affairs. She received her undergraduate degree in Psychology from Auburn and her Masters in Social Work from the University of Alabama. She resides in Alpharetta, GA with her husband and 2 daughters.

Nikki R. Wooten, PhD, LISW-CP - Associate Professor at the University of South Carolina.

Dr. Wooten is a tenured faculty member in the College of Social Work at the University of South Carolina, teaches military social work, adult psychopathology, and conceptual modeling graduate courses and conducts behavioral health services research on military and veteran populations. She also has a research appointment at the William Jennings Bryan Dorn Veterans Administration Medical Center (Dorn VAMC) and serves on the Board of Directors of the Dorn Research Institute. As Coordinator of the Graduate Certificate in Social and Behavioral Health with Military Members, Veterans, and Military Families, she has oversight of graduate-level curricular that prepares social workers, behavioral and public health, and allied health professionals to identify and assess unique military and development stressors, mental health and substance use problems in military and veteran populations. Dr. Wooten received her PhD from the University of Maryland, and has authored over 45 publications on military, veterans, and vulnerable populations, developed four military social work courses, and conducted over 85 invited and peer-reviewed presentations, nationally and internationally. Previous roles held by Dr. Wooten include Research Fellow, U.S. Army Research Institute for the Behavioral and Social Sciences, Department of Veterans' Affairs Predoctoral Fellow sponsored by the Baltimore VAMC, child therapist at Navy Family Advocacy Anacostia-Annex, and social work consultant at the Armed Forces Center for Child Protection located at the Walter Reed National Military Medical Center, which included testifying as an expert witness in courts-martials and civilian trials and providing professional training for military and civilian audiences on military family violence nationally and internationally. Dr. Wooten has served as a grant reviewer for the National Institutes of Health, U.S. Army Medical Research and Materiel Command Medical Research Programs, Israel Science Foundation, and Office of Vice President for Research, University of South Carolina.

Dr. Wooten has over 32 years of military service and is a lieutenant colonel in the U.S. Army Reserves. Currently, she serves as a Small Group Leader for the U.S. Army Command and General Staff Officer's Course for the U.S. Army's Command and General Staff College.
