OVERVIEW:

In the hectic lives of healthcare professionals, it is often difficult to view situations through our patients' eyes. How does it feel to receive a difficult diagnosis? What is the toll it takes physically and emotionally on your body? How do family members and caregivers cope emotionally? Using a musical film and storytelling, we will hear firsthand from a breast cancer survivor and her care partner as they take us on their powerful journey from diagnosis to treatment to survivorship. Some key points of exploration include receiving bad news, clinical empathy, family dynamics, loss (and finding purpose within it), and much more. Do not miss this innovative evening of music and learning to help us better understand what our patients experience so that we may always be improving best practices to help improve patient outcomes.

BY ATTENDING OUR WORKSHOP, YOU WILL BE ABLE TO:

- Name three losses that a patient may experience when diagnosed with a serious illness and how using music/the arts may help a patient to cope.
- Identify three valuable patient perspectives that can allow you to better serve clients/care partners.
- Discover a unique lens through the eyes of a breast cancer patient and survivor, and how using poetry, narratives, and the arts helped her cope from her diagnosis through survivorship.
